THE METHODIST CONFERENCE

Annual Sermon Preached By the Presiding Elder.

THE SUNDAY'S WORK.

The Calvary Methodist Church at West Berwick Dedicated Sunday Evening by Bishop Fitzgerald—Deacons Ordained and Elderships Conferred.

LAYMEN'S ASSOCIATION MET SATURDAY.

Berwick, March 27.—The annual sermon of the Central Pennsylvania M. E. conference was preached Sunday by Presiding Bishop J. N. Fitzgerald to a congregation that filled the large auditorium. His text was taken from the 19th verse and the 19th chapter of John: "And Pilate wrote a title and put on the cross, and the writing was: Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews." The sermon was an eloquent review of Methodism, and in conclusion the Bishop said, "Pilate wrote the title and before Pilate he was condemned and by him given to be crucified. From this I believe that all men by and by shall acknowledge Christ their king, and friend and foe will call him King of Kings and Lord of Lords."

Following the sermon John Royer, Alexander Scott, J. N. Scott, I. L. Snyder and J. N. Brenl were ordained deacons, and the eldership was conferred upon Deacons Jacob Burke, H. C. Burkhold, Parvey Eloran, H. W. Hartsoff, H. C. Hinkle, A. C Logan, G. W. McIlnay and H. J. Shugart.

Sunday evening the Calvary Methodist church of West Berwick was dedicated by Bishop Fitzgerald with impressive services. The Bishop also delivered the dedicatory sermon.

The pulpits of the different churches of Berwick, Bloomsburg and other nearby towns were filled Sunday by ministers attending the conference and all were greeted with large congregations.

Berwick, Pa,, March 27—The discussion of corporation business Friday morning was rather of a desultory and aimless order, but brought out considerable information that was valuable to the members of the conference. Dr. Evans, president of the board of trustees, reported that about $45,000 was now invested in various productive securities, and about $30,000 more was known to be provided in wills. This is a very encouraging exhibit for only five years life of the fund.

Two more classes were passed Friday morning, the classes of the first and second years. Geo. A. Duvall, Robt. I. Knox, Walter S. James and Geo. M. Shimer were advanced to the studies of the second year, and James M. Brennam, J. Victor Royer and Ivan L. Snyder were advanced to the studies of the of the third year.

Besides the reading of the journal the above were about the only items of disciplinary business transacted Friday morning. But if conference has made rather slow progress in this branch of its annual business, Bishop Fitzgerald and his cabinet have certainly been hustling. The bishop held his first meeting of the cabinet onl Monday evening, held three sittings on Tuesday and two on Wednesday—six sittings of the cabinet before the meeting of the conference itself. This is unprecedented in the Central Pennsylvania conference. It looked as though the bishops were going to have the appointments all ready to announce before conference met. But nobody believes that anything is really fixed. The laymen are beginning to come in and their coming means in some instances at least a rearrangement of the slate.

Very few changes are probable in the more prominent churches. There may be a change in the Shamokin First church, where Dr. Monroe is pastor, and in Chambersburg, where Rev. James B. Stein is at present in charge. But these do not seem to be determined as yet.

The following committee assignments of Tyrone pastors may be of interest to your readers: Rev. H. L. Jacobs and Rev. J. A. Wood Jr., are serving together on the committee on general qualifications of candidates and on the committee on complimentary resolutions. Rev. T. V. Rue is on the committee on the Epworth League. Rev. George Leidy is on the committee on memoirs. Revs. Gilbert and Jacobs are on the permanent committee on temperance, and Rev. E. H. Yocum and Rev. Geo. D. Penepacker are on the committee on the Woman's Foreign Missionary society.

We had two splendid addresses Thursday evening, in the interest of the cause of education. The first was by the Rev. Dr. W. F. Anderson, of New York, secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist church, on the "Christian Ideal in Education," a masterly address indeed; and the other was by the Rev. P. O'Connell, of Wilmington, Delaware, in behalf of the work among the colored people of the south. It will surprise your readers to learn that this man with the familiar and honored name was a negro, born in slavery, and I want to tell you that his address and manners suggested no reflection on the honorable name he bears. He is an able, cultivated, powerful speaker. He came to take the place of Dr. M. C. B. Mason, the eloquent secretary of the Freedman's Aid society, who was unexpectedly called to New Orleans on important business. Many felt a keen pang of disappointment when they saw this man on the platform instead of the familiar Dr. Mason but when he had concluded there was probably not a disappointed person in the large congregation.

Death of James Ginter.

James Ginter, formerly of this place, died at his home in Philadelphia on Tuesday evening, March 21st. He injured his back about six weeks ago and never recovered from it.

He was 67 years of age and is survived by his wife, two sons and four daughters.

THE RECORD OF DEATHS

Those Who Have Crossed Over the River DURING THE WEEK

Henry Petrikin Harris, a Life Long Citizen of Bellefonte Among the Number Called.

BRIEF BIOGRAPHIES OF DEPARTED

Henry Petrikin Harris, one of Bellefonte's oldest citizens, died at his home on East Howard street Thursday at 8 o'clock. Death was due to a gradual breaking down of the system incident to old age. He had been failing for some time, yet, his death was no less a shock to his bereaved family and the community in general.

He was 79 years old last November and was born in Bellefonte, where he had lived his entire life. He was a son of Samuel Harris and belonged to one of the oldest families in the county.

Surviving him are his wife, who was the daughter of Rev. John Tonner, a Methodist minister of this place, and the following children: Wilbur F., of Mechanicsburg; Hardman P., of Bellefonte. Mrs. Lydia T., wife of W. H. Galloway, of Radford, Va.; James H., of Bellefonte, and John Tonner, of Altoona.

He also leaves a brother and two sisters as follows: John P. and Miss Elizabeth Harris, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. William P. Elliott, of Knoxville, Tenn.

The funeral took place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home on East Howard street. People from all walks of life gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to this kindly, sunny dispositioned man, whom many had known from childhood. The house was not large enough to hold all the people who desired to hear the services and the sidewalk in front of the house was lined with friends of the deceased.

The services were conducted by Rev. John A. Wood Jr., of the Methodist church, assisted by Rev. William Laurie D. D. LL D., of the Presbyterian church. The floral tributes almost covered the casket and were very profuse and beautiful. Many were received from friends at a distance, coming from Pittsburg, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., and Ohio.

The carriers were as follows:

C. C. Shuey, Jno. I. Olewine, W. I. Fleming, W. L. Malin, H. E. Fenlon, Jerome Harper, John Blanchard, Jos. L. Montgomery, Jno. M. Shugert and Chas. T Richard.

The honorary pall bearers were:

The interment was made in the family lot in the Union cemetery.

Few of the men who have been identified prominently with the life of Bellefonte are left. Their passing is a matter of more than ordinary moment, because most of the unwritten history of a community is treasured in their minds. With the death of Henry Petrikin Harris at his home on Howard street Thursday morning a man is gone, who, more than any other, has been associated with the life of Bellefonte for almost four decades. Born here seventy-nine years ago he spent his entire life in the place of his birth; watching the development of the municipality and connected by ties of consanguinity or warm personal friendship with all the men who through these years have brought what measure of prominence the town has acquired by illustrious citizenship. Mr. Harris was a rare man in many respects a type of the older school, his name will be indissolubly connected with the early history of Bellefonte.

Having been the leading undertaker during all his active life his was the duty of laying to rest the departed from all walks and when he was laid away in the Union cemetery on Monday a career that has been fraught with historical interest was ended.

Mr. Harris was a gentleman, indeed; genial, courteous and considerate. Prominently active in the Republican politics of the county he was a factor to be considered, though his ambition was rather to help his friends than to seek preferment for himself. Constantly alive to matters of public import he was a leader in many of the undertakings that had the town's best interests as an objective. He has lived among us in seasons of prosperity and depression, through times of sorrow and gladness, ever an even tempered, hopeful man whose character was such as to leave an impression that will last while the town stands.

Deceased had the distinction of being the oldest male resident of the town who was born here and lived all his life in Bellefonte and this fact, coupled with the very remarkable memory of the man made him an authority on the history of the town of the past half century and more. In politics he was a Republican, always staunch and true to his party principles. In religion he was a methodist and though not one of the most active workers in the church was always ready and willing to do what he could in the Master's cause. In his knowledge of local Methodism his acute memory was perhaps the most retentive, as he could recount with wonderful exactitude every incident of any moment in connection with the church here as well as the names and years of pastorate of the various resident ministers.

Death of Hon. A. V. Larimer.

Saturday Mrs. William T. Speer, of Bellefonte, received the sad and unexpected news of the death of her brother, Hon. A. V. Larimer, who died in Chicago Friday evening or early Saturday morning. The telegram gave no particulars but it is the belief of his friends here that his demise was sudden as they were not notified of his serious illness. He was a frequent visitor in Bellefonte during the last ten years and had many friends here who will be sorry to hear that he has passed away.

Judge Larimer was the son of James and Mary Larimer who were among the pioneers and best families of the county. He was born March 31, 1829, on the old Larimer homestead near Pleasant Gap which is now owned by Mrs. Speer. He worked on the farm and went to school at what was then called Harrisonville, now a part of Pleasant Gap. He was a studious, energetic young man and after passing through the county schools he prepared himself for college and finally graduated at Lafayette. He returned home and began the study of law in the office of the late Ex-Governor Andrew G. Curtin. In January 1852 he was admitted to the bar of Centre County. The next morning he went to Lock Haven with the purpose of opening up a law office but during the night he changed his mind and decided to go west. He came home and in a few days left to make his future in the west which was then just opening up, and presenting to the young man many excellent opportunities for advancement. He located in Council Bluffs, Iowa, and began the practice of law and it was not many years until he became a leader among the best lawyers of the state. Finally he was elected judge and served on the bench a number of years where he made an enviable reputation. After retiring from the bench he went into the real estate and cattle business which proved a great financial success. He associated with others in a number of prominent enterprises of the west and thus, was a very influential man. About eight years ago he became afflicted in the feet and since then he was unable to do anything except go from one place to another trying to obtain relief. He finally located in Sioux City where he had things very nice. About four years ago he was married to a young English lady. Judge Larimer had a large heart within him and nobody was turned from his door empty. He took a great deal of pleasure in looking after the needs and comforts of others. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Kate Speer, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Ellen Furey of Pittsburg, the latter being in very delicate health. He was also an uncle of Mrs. Mollie Valentine, Rush and Will Larimer of Bellefonte, and Mrs. E. S. Weatherly, (nee Miss Nellie Larimer,) of Omaha Neb. Interment in Omaha, Neb.

Taken.

From a seat in the lady's car of the south bound passenger train, Saturday evening, March 18, between Philipsburg and Sandy Ridge a brown leather hand bag, containing a purse with little over $3.00 in money in it, several checks, editorial passes, etc. The finder is welcome to the money, if the bag and its other contents are returned to the office of The Philipsburg Ledger or any ticket office of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The Court Granted Twenty-Eight, Refused Seven and Held Over for Further Consideration Twelve.

SEVERAL OLD ONES REFUSED

Ever since Judge Orvis heard the applications for licenses the liquor dealers have been on the anxious seat and the interest of the general public has been intense. It was the new Judge's first license court and every one was anxious to see what course he would pursue. For three weeks he has had the matter under consideration and Tuesday he relieved the tension some what by granting 23 tavern and 4 wholesale licenses. He refused outright seven and held over thirteen.

The following is the complete list of license applications. Those that are marked with a star (*) are refused, those that are marked with an asterisk (†) are held over.

Judge Orvis on Divorce Cases.

In court last Saturday Judge Ellis L. Orvis in a talk to the members of the bar, said that during his term on the bench he would require attorneys to be more full and explicit in all testimony relating to application for a divorce. That heretofore a testimony of perhaps a brother or a sister or some near neighbor of the libellant had been accepted as ample on which to grant a decree but that he would require the testimony of outside parties, in fact, evidence of just as general a character as is required in any quarter sessions case. And that he wanted the evidence presented to him in the form of questions and answers and not abbreviated or a written synopsis of what the witnesses testified to. Judge Orvis gave as his reason the question of divorce was one of the growing evils of the present day and it was his purpose to grant decrees only in such cases as the evidence should warrant.

Trout Fry Received.

Thirty cans of trout fry from the Bellefonte hatcheries were received here last evening for distribution in the various streams in this neighborhood. Each can is supposed to contain about 1500 of the little "speckled beauties." They were kept in the public building over night, and this morning were taken to Six Mile Run, Cold Stream, Black Moshannon and other streams, where they were carefully deposited. It is expected that eighteen additional cans will be received. If the Trout Hog could be kept in subjection the streams in this neighborhood ought soon again to be resorts for splendid fishing.—Thursday's Philipsburg Journal.

TO BELLEFONTE BORO. $10,000.

This Sum Offered for Release of Pruner Children's Home Bequest.

The joint committees of the Bellefonte and Tyrone borough council met at Bellefonte on Friday, in accordance with the provisions of the ordinances passed recently by both bodies accepting the bequest of the late E. J. Pruner who devised property of the value of approximately $45,000 for the establishment of a Home for Friendless Children of Tyrone and Bellefonte. As is generally known, in case the boroughs should not accept this bequest the property in question would pass to Mr. Pruner's niece, Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes, of Bellefonte.

The joint committee met to prepare a proper ordinance for the establishment, conduct and management of the proposed Home. While the session was in progress Harry Keller Esq., attorney for Mrs. Hayes, appeared before the committee and made the offer on behalf of his client, that if the boroughs of Tyrone and Bellefonte would release their claims upon the E. J. Pruner estate for the properties devised for the Children's Home, she would agree to pay each borough the sum of $10,000 cash, or $20,000 in all. Such an offer has been expected, in the way of compromise, sooner or later. The joint committee took the matter under consideration. In the meantime they went forward with the work of preparing the ordinance and completed it so that it would be ready for introduction at the meetings of the councils in April. The offer for compromise, while not halting the preparation for establishing the proposed Home, will be carefully considered by the borough's representatives, and doubtless the public sentiment in the two communities will govern the final decision of the council.

SOCIETY WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE.

Mrs. Hugh L. White, of Williamsport Pierced Her Bosom With a Shot.

Mrs. Hugh L. White shot herself over the heart, while alone in her apartments at the Park hotel, Williamsport, between 3 and 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The bullet, which was of 23-calibre, was imbedded deep in her body, inflicting a very serious wound, the result of which cannot be foretold.

Mrs. White has been living at the Park hotel since last fall. Previous to that time she suffered a prolonged illness from typhoid fever. She was at the hospital a long time, and after recovering from the illness regained her strength very slowly. During the winter she was afflicted by grip, suffering from several successive attacks, which seemed to have a marked effect upon her, both mentally and physically. Latterly she showed evidence of nervousness, and the consequent despondency is believed to have led to a temporary mental aberration, during which the tragic deed was committed while alone in her apartments.

No incident of recent years in Williamsport has occasioned a greater shock than this tragic occurrence, say the Gazette and Bulletin. The prominence of Mrs. White in society and her popularity contributed to the distressing character of the misfortune.

The New Bishop.

Local Episcopalians hear that the canonically required majority consent of the House of Bishops has been secured to the consecration of Rev. Dr. James Henry Darlington, of Brooklyn, N. Y., as Bishop of the new diocese of Harrisburg.

The Presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, of Missouri, will take order at once for the consecration, which will be held at Dr. Darlington's present charge, Christ church, Brooklyn, and the date, it is practically assured, will be Wednesday after Easter, April 26.

At the service there will be three Bishops as consecrators, two to present the candidate, all of whom will be selected by the Presiding Bishop, and one as a preacher, besides two attending presbyters, who will be selected by Dr. Darlington.

Dr. Darlington will assume his new duties immediately after the consecration. He has not committed himself as to what place he will make the see city, or place of his residence in the diocese.

It is understood, however, that he will visit both Williamsport and Lancaster upon invitation of Episcopalians who seek to secure the episcopal residence for their respective cities.

—Tyrone has been chosen as the place for holding the annual Methodist Conference in 1906.

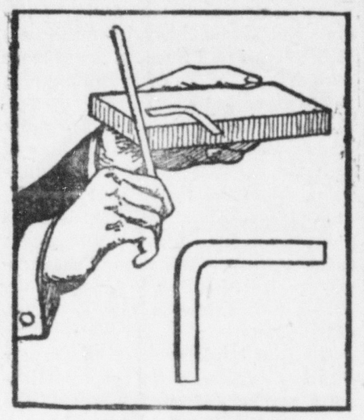
FOR YOUNG FOLKS

A BOOMERANG.

How to Make and Use One Made of Stiff Cardboard.

You can make a very curious and interesting toy on the pattern of a weapon used by the aborigines of Australia. They made it of a piece of flat, hard wood, but you must use stiff cardboard, as that will be harmless.

Your miniature boomerang should be cut out of stiff cardboard, the form being somewhat like a right angle, except that the corner should be rounded both outside and inside. The illustration will give you the idea. The strip should be about half an inch wide and each end, or stem, a few inches long.



TO THROW THE BOOMERANG.

To throw it so that it will return to your feet lay it on a book held at a slight angle, allowing one end of it to project about an inch over the side of the book, and then strike the projecting end with a lead pencil or a stout penholder. After a little practice you will be able to make it fly off and come back to you.—New York Mail.

THE DOG'S BARK.

Some of the Proverbs About It and What They Mean.

When Dr. Watts said that dogs "delight to bark" he wrote of the dog of civilized folk. The wild dog, whether wolf or dingo, does not bark. It howls or growls or whines. Barking is therefore an accomplishment. The dog has acquired it just as a little girl may learn the piano or a boy French. For that reason it follows that barking alone is not a sign that a dog is savage or ill tempered. In fact, there is a proverb that "barking dogs never bite," but of course this rather means that fellows who are always bragging never can do anything else. When a dog barks at the moon it expects to frighten it or to express its contempt for it. The other proverb, which says that "his bark is worse than his bite," means, let a person scold and bully as he may, he doesn't intend half the mischief he threatens. It was from the sharp, loud noise of the dog's bark that pistols came to be called "barkers."

TRY VARIETY.

When Things Get Monotonous In the House Change Them Around.

When things get monotonous in the house try changing them around. Put the furniture in different positions, change the bric-a-brac from one room to another or, better still, give some of the ornaments a rest from duty and leave on view just enough to lend a note of distinctive simplicity.

If not in the habit of using flowers for everyday decoration of the dining table, try the effect of a few bright blossoms and feathery ferns. Then vary the menu and send the ordinary dishes to the table in a more attractive form than usual. Have bread and butter sandwiches instead of plain bread for dinner and try some of the varieties of breakfast biscuits instead of rolls and muffins for the first meal of the day. Serve croutons in the soup, utilizing stale bread for this purpose, and serve the pudding or jellies for dessert in individual molds instead of portions from one large dish and try new combinations in desserts.

This apparent touch of novelty is effective oftentimes in stimulating a jaded appetite or silencing the oft heard criticism of "same old thing" not unusual in the average household.—Brooklyn Eagle.

NURSERY NOTES.

Don't forget to dry the hands and feet of a child well.

Don't neglect to keep the feeding bottle properly cleaned.

Tales of the bogy man and ghost stories make a child cowardly.

Don't hang curtains around the cot. Children need plenty of air, especially when sleeping.

Don't encourage little children to drink tea or coffee. It is very injurious to the nerves.

Don't forget that regular habits, proper feeding and long hours of sleep are necessary conditions for a healthy infant.

Don't lift an infant up by its arms or make it stand on its toes while partly lifted. Neither allow a child to be placed too early on its feet to stand or walk.

Don't use artificial means to put a child to sleep. Walking about with it, rocking it and jogging it are also bad habits. A child should be taught to go directly to rest.

A Severe Cold for Three Months.

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried Foley's Honey and Tar, and eight doses cured me." Refuse substitutes. For sale by C. M. Parrish.

—Croup instantly relieved, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Perfectly safe. Never fails. At any drug store.

FATS AND DRIPPING.

Those That Should Not Be Used In Making Pastry.

The use of raw suet, lard or mutton fat in pastries is to be avoided, for each leaves an unpleasant after taste. The small pieces of fat trimmed from off the piece of beef that forms the more substantial part of the daily dinner are placed in an iron pan and allowed to simmer four or five hours either in the oven or at the back of the range. The fluid fat is then strained into a small crock or tin pail and set within the refrigerator when sufficiently cooled. Here it will keep fresh indefinitely.

The fat that is skimmed from soups and gravies must never be mingled with the purer fat obtained as just described, because, useful as it is for frying and other purposes, owing to the fact that it is usually flavored with herbs, spices or vegetables of some description, it is not available for pastry. Should the supply of pure fat fail to suffice it can be augmented by the occasional purchase of three or four pounds of beef fat from the butcher's, where it is cut into bits ready for rendering.

The drippings of poultry lend a fine flavor to the fat and add to its richness. A cup of fat or half a cup and the same of butter and a saltspoonful of salt are rubbed to a cream with a wooden spoon. Add four cups of flour and mix with the hands until the mass resembles granulated sugar. Make a hole in the center and pour into the opening a full cup of ice water. Mix quickly and lightly with the spoon and do not knead. This suffices for three pies of ordinary size. Should less be required the remainder can be kept in the refrigerator and utilized for dumplings, tarts, turnovers, etc.

A Simple Remedy for Acquiring Hard Muscles and a Sound Body.

A number 12 bore gun when loaded with three drams of powder will send a load of shot further and shoot harder than if double this amount of powder is used.

If too much powder is used, all of it will not explode until it leaves the muzzle of the gun.

That portion which does not explode at the proper time, interferes with the direction, and checks the velocity or force of the shot.

Hard muscles and a strong body do not depend on the quantity of food, but on its perfect digestion and proper assimilation.

If the nutrient properties of all of the food that may be eaten are appropriated by the blood and tissues, the muscles of the body will grow harder and stronger, whether you eat much or little.

You may be well, but not strong. What you want is strength,—physical force.

You do not have to be sick to need Kodol Dyspepsia Cure.

A little Kodol after meals, will enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate every atom of all of the wholesome food that may be eaten.

It will do more.

It will enable the stomach to extract from the food all its nutrient properties, and contribute the same to the blood.

It will enable the blood to circulate freely and deposit a full quota of this tissue-building and strength-giving material into every nook, corner, muscle and fibre of your whole being.

The result is perfect strength.

And perfect health.

Disease cannot lay hold on the man or women whose physical condition is thus fortified. Recommended by Green's Pharmacy Co.

Cooling Off.

The man who would sit on a cake of ice to cool off would be considered crazy. Yet it is a very common thing for a person heated by exercise to stand in a cool draught, just to cool off. This is the beginning of many a cough which ultimately involves the bronchial tract and the lungs.

For coughs in any stage there is no remedy so valuable as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures deep-seated, obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, and like conditions which if neglected or unskillfully treated terminate in consumption.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics.

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good."

"I took a severe cold which settled in the bronchial tubes," writes Rev. Frank Hay, of Nortonville, Jefferson Co., Kansas. "After trying medicines labeled 'Sure Cure,' almost without number, I was led to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took two bottles and was cured, and have stayed cured.

"When I think of the great pain I had to endure, and the terrible cough I had, it seems almost a miracle that I was so soon relieved.

"That God may spare you many years and abundantly bless you is the prayer of your grateful friend."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, containing 1008 large pages, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers or 31 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A LASTING EFFECT

Relief from the pains and aches of a bad back is always welcome to every backache sufferer but to cures lame, weak or aching back is what's wanted. Cure it so it will stay cured. It can be done. Here's the strongest evidence to prove it:

Wm. E. Haines living at 133 W Beaver St., says "I have had no occasion to use any kidney medicine since 1896. It was at that time I was cured by Doan's Kidney Pills and I made a statement for publication recommending them. The cure has proved to be permanent and it gives me pleasure to once more endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. Before I used this preparation I had been suffering for six years with a lameness of the back and a dull lingering aching over the kidneys accompanied with severe pains in the head. My eyes pained me. Being on night work I had to have my rest during the day but when I was in this condition I could not get any rest at all, and was, in fact unfit to work. Reading of the many cures made in Bellefonte by Doan's Kidney Pills I got a box at the Bush Block Drug Store. They banished the whole trouble, and during the past eight years I have had no return of it. With this proof I am well able to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

IN MEMORY OF M. S. QUAY

Special Session of the State Legislature

FOR THAT PURPOSE

Governor Delivered Principal Eulogy—Hall of Lower Branch of General Assembly Well Filled to Hear Services

THE TRIBUTE OF LIEUT. GOVERNOR

Harrisburg, March 23.—The Senate and House of Representatives of Pennsylvania met in joint special session Wednesday night to do honor to the memory of the late United States Senator Matthew Stanley Quay. The memorial services were held in the hall of the House, and were presided over by Lieutenant Governor William B. Brown. Governor Pennypacker delivered the eulogy.

Although not more than half of the members of the Senate were present the hall of the House was well filled when the services began. Among those who attended were Mrs. Pennypacker and daughters, and nearly all the prominent state officials. None of the members of the Quay family were present.

After the members of the Senate had entered the House in a body and taken seats in front of the bar of the House, the Governor was escorted to his seat by Senator Samuel P. White, of Beaver county, chairman of the Memorial Committee. The Lieutenant Governor was escorted by the Speaker of the House.

The services began with the reading, by the Rev. J. Wesley Sullivan, of Philadelphia, chaplain of the Senate, of the lesson "Trust in God," as found in the 23d Psalm, first to sixth verses, 27th Psalm, first verse, and 18th Psalm, second verse. The chaplain also delivered the invocation.

The Lieutenant Governor in presenting the Governor said:

"Both branches, of the legislative department of our imperial commonwealth have by solemn resolution fixed upon this day and hour to commemorate by fitting memorial service the departure from the field of human action of one of the most conspicuous figures in political life that the world has ever seen.

"By unanimous judgment and consensus of opinion, the highly respected and esteemed friend of that colossal figure in the political world, in honor of whose memory we meet to-night, the great jurist and honored Governor of our loved commonwealth, has been selected to make the only address on this occasion.

"The presiding officer, together with millions of those who are loyal to Pennsylvania and her great interests, stand tonight with uncovered heads and hearts bowed with sorrow, while he who was wont to call him friend will tell us of the great virtues, powers, patriotism and devotion to his family, his country and his friends, of that great, patriotic, manly, forgiving and ever constant friend whom the leaders were glad to call leader and whom his family were glad to call husband and father, and whom his friends were glad to call friend, and who, though he lies tonight in his narrow wayside home, with his face to the stars, in the little cemetery in Beaver, still in their minds and hearts remains the incomparable, strong and manly, yet still lovely character—M. S. Quay.

"I now have the honor of introducing to you, his Excellency, Governor Samuel W. Pennypacker."

The Governor read his eulogy slowly and distinctly, and was listened to with close attention.

After the Governor had concluded his address the chaplain of the Senate closed the services with the benediction.

No More Stomach Trouble.

All stomach trouble is removed by the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It gives the stomach perfect rest by digesting what you eat without the stomach's aid. The food builds up the body, the rest restores the stomach to health. You don't have to diet yourself when taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. J. D. Erskine, of Allenville, Mich., says "I suffered Heartburn and Stomach trouble for some time. My sister-in-law has had the same trouble and was not able to eat for six weeks. She lived entirely on warm water. After taking two bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure she was entirely cured. She now eats heartily and is in good health. I am glad to say Kodol gave me instant relief." Sold by Green's pharmacy.

Deer Are Plentier.

"There are more deer in Pennsylvania this spring than during any previous spring in many years," said Dr. Joseph Kalbfus, secretary of the state game commission. "The reason is that the people are awakening to the efforts that are being made by the game commission for the protection of game, and are co-operating with its members," Dr. Kalbfus added. "They are getting out with their shot guns and their Springfields, and they are lying for those dogs that are chasing the deer."

Editor's Advance Sheet.

In the Engineering Magazine for April, the leading article, by Dr. Louis Bell, deals very strikingly with the "Economic Effects of Electric-Power Distribution." By the widened range of profitable manufacturing location which it gives, and by its stimulation of semi-rural industrial communities near to small water-powers, Dr. Bell believes electric distribution of power and light is destined to check—possibly to arrest—the decadent tendency of over-centrilization of manufactures and over-concentration of population in cities.

A. W. Robinson has a most instructive review of the methods used in construction of the great ship canals so far built, and their costs—the matter being presented for comparison with the work to be done at Panama. A second paper by the same author, announced to follow next month, will discuss the types of dredging and excavating machinery available for the Isthmian Canal construction. It is a topic upon which Mr. Robinson is a leading authority. E. W. Parker, of the United States Geological Survey, gives a complete and fully illustrated account of the work of the coal-testing plant at St. Louis, and the values found for the fuels tested. Lieut. Shultz, U. S. N., has a very finely illustrated discussion of shipyard cranes, showing many interesting examples here and abroad. R. M. Neilson finishes his study of the increase of engine efficiency by the use of superheated steam, and H. Deighton describes the cost system of an engineering works—both these papers being accompanied by many diagrams; and Dr. Lucke has a most significant summary of his investigations in the gas-turbine problem. There is, as usual, the full Review and Index of the Engineering Press.—The Engineering Magazine, New York.

Failure of "Romance."

There was a failure of all the rules of "romance" in the case of the "reverend" Joseph F. Cordova, who beat his wife, maintained illicit relations with a young woman of his congregation, refused to provide for his wife and children and twice eloped with the object of his unlawful affections. A soulless Judge who has no heart for "romance" sentenced Mr. Cordova to one year in prison for his "romantic" attachment to the young woman and three years for beating his wife. There are people, well meaning, no doubt, who regard this punishment as right and just.

Even in the newspaper press an affair of this kind is often called a "romance." All moral villainy of that kind is supposed to be "romantic." What would Boccaccio say about a judge who would condemn Cordova? In what delightfully profane and therefore classic phrase would Rabelais flay the judge and glorify the "romance."

Immorality hundreds of years, and is more "romantic" now than ever. It's a pity Cordova didn't get ten years and his eloping partner the same term.

Leader Urges Miners to Extent the Union.

When the bituminous miners' convention assembled in Altoona Thursday, Patrick Dolan, president of District No. 5, made a speech complimenting the convention on the large attendance of delegates, and urged them to sustain their districts loyally and watchfully.

He deplored the fact that there were 4,000 unorganized miners in the Second and Fifth districts, and said they should be surrounded like the Japanese surrounded the Russians, and urged to come into the organization. Mr Dolan thought the soft coal miners should be together in a state organization. The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, in session at Williamsport, telegraphed fraternal greetings.

Thursday night the delegates were tendered an elaborate banquet by the unionists of Williamsport.

Scranton, New Castle, Philadelphia and Erie want the convention next year, and a hot contest is expected before a choice is made.

THE ARCTIC EXPLORATION

Commander Robert E. Peary's Expedition Launched,

STEAMER ROOSEVELT

Mrs. Peary Broke Bottle of Champagne Over the Bow of the Vessel

WHILE 5,000 PEOPLE LOOKED ON.

Bucksport, Me., March 24.—Commander Robert E. Peary's Arctic exploration steamship was successfully launched here Thursday. The vessel was christened by Mrs. Peary.

As Mrs. Peary broke a bottle of champagne over the bow of the vessel and said, "I christen thee Roosevelt," a large pennant bearing the name "Roosevelt" was hoisted, making known to 5,000 people watching the launching the name of the steamship, about which there had been much speculation.

The vessel will be towed to Portland Friday to receive her machinery, masts and fittings.

It was designed by Naval Architect William E. Winant, of New York, and it is said is the result of all that experience in Arctic navigation to this date can suggest. She is considered the strongest in construction, most powerful and best equipped craft for combatting the Arctic ice ever built. The vessel is described as "a three-masted four and aft schooner, rigged steamship, with auxiliary sail power."

Her principal dimensions are: Length over all, 382 feet; beam, 35.5 feet; depth, 16 3 feet, mean draft, with stores, 17 feet; gross tonnage, 641 tons, and estimated displacement about 1,500. Her model is similar to modern built steam whalers, but rather more sharp, the particular being her long, high, raking bow, overhanging stern and general wedge-shape at the sides in order that she may be lifted free if nipped in the ice.

The steamship was built of white oak, the frame being treble and close together, with double planking, making the walls from twenty four to thirty inches thick. The keel is ten inches thick, but false keels and keelsons form a backbone projecting six feet under the entire length af the vessel. The bow is backed by twelve feet of solid dead wood.

Her engine and boilers will develop from 1,000 to 1,500 horse power. Her coet when ready for sea will be $1000,000.

Exhumed the Skull.

The district attorney of Elk county, the county commissioners of that county and two prominent physicians of Ridgway visited Bloomington, near Curwensville, the latter part of last week and exhumed the body of Orvis Farley, the young man who was shot and killed at Ridgway a few weeks ago and for which Edna Swartz, formerly of Philipsburg, is being held for trial on the charge of murder. They wanted the skull, through which the bullet which caused the young man's death, passed. The woman's story that Farley shot himself is not credited by the authorities. According to a late statement the bullet entered the back of the man's head and came out in the front.

Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Hering entertained a very large company of relatives and friends on Friday March 17th, at their pleasant home in Spring Mills, the occasion being the celebration of their fiftieth marriage anniversary, and was a very delightful and interesting event. The day being one continued round of pleasure, mirth and enjoyment—over sixty invited guests were present.

The interior of Mr. Hering's residence, in fact nearly all the rooms, were beautifully decorated for the occasion with a profusion of greenery, artistically arranged, evidently the work of skillful hands, presenting a very beautiful and charming sight.

At noon an elegant and substantial dinner was served. The tables were lavishly furnished with a bewildering array of choice and rare dishes of a delicious and most inviting character. The several departments of the cuisine, were under the skillful supervision of Mesdames Donachy, Cummings, Shook and Miss Fredericks, and their united efforts resulted in a "feast fit for the Gods." Misses Anna and Ella Cummings and Mabel Long, looking as pretty as the Three Graces, assisted by Master Donachy, deserve especial praise, for the very efficient and skillful manner in which they waited upon the tables.

General conversation, mirth and lively discussions on the prevailing topics of the day occupied the interview, Mr. and Mrs. Hering seemed ubiquitous; they were here, there and everywhere, to be certain that the guests were being entertained and lacked nothing that would conduce to their comfort and enjoyment.

Early in the evening all retired to their respective homes, expressing themselves as having been delightfully entertained, and regretting that a day so replete with pleasure and enjoyment was at an end.

Mr. and Mrs. Hering were the recipients of a large number of valuable presents and remembrances, some of which were of a very substantial and solid character.

Among the guests present were—Rev. G. W. McIlnay, C. P. Long, wife and daughter, D. M. McCool and wife, C. C. Cummings, wife and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Krape, Mrs. S. H. Braucht, Mrs. Shires, Mrs. David Sweetwood, A. Shook and wife, Miss Jessie Fredericks, Miss Mary Woods, Rev. Fenstermacher, Mrs. Jane Nofsker, Mrs. C. Shook, all of Spring Mills; Mrs. Harry Kreamer, Miss Anna Lohr, J. C. Lutz and wife, of Centre Hall; Rev. I. W. Shannon and wife, of Elysburg; Geo. Shannon and wife, of Watsontown; Jas. Hering and wife, of Altoona; Geo. Dale and wife, of Lemont, W. R. Donachy, wife and son, of Lewisburg; John Hosterman and wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Hering, H. B. Hering, of Penn Hall; H. Satterlee, R. Vin-Te-Na...
Means Vim.

It is a medicine that actually feeds the weakened nerves by enriching and purifying the blood. Each ingredient is of the highest medical value. It cures more diseases than any other remedy on the market simply because it gets right down to the source of nine-tenths of all diseases, that is, the blood and nerves. When the blood is made pure and rich and the nerves are toned, diseases disappear as surely as shadows disappear when the light is turned on. If you are rheumatic; if you have stomach, liver or bowel trouble; if your nervous system is going to pieces, Vin-te-na will cure you because all these troubles are caused by bad blood.

EDITORIAL.

It would appear to be a great come down for Colorado from two governors to one lieutenant governor.

Two Indians are members of the legislature in a New England state and this may have something to do with the defeat of the railroad in the anti-scalping bill.

What great benefactors some of our stock gamblers would be if they would get a corner on all the gun stocks and all the ammunition of the world and keep them in the corner.

Governor Hanley, of Indiana, says (or does he complain) that he has never seen the inside of a saloon. They must be very unsociable to their Governors in Indiana. However, the sinews of unsociability are not confined to saloons and the Governor had better adopt another mode of expression if he wants to prove that he has never tasted corn juice.

It is said that Representative Hull has retracted his Cassandra-like vaticanation which represented the all-conquering Japanese sweeping over the Philippines; and now says that he did not mean all that he said with the force that he said it. The Honorable Hull had as well stand by the "hull" thing. The situation is not impossible—not even improbable. In view of present conditions, it would seem more feasible for the Japanese to swoop down on the Philippines, take them and hold them, than their present astounding accomplishments, against the Russians would have appeared fifteen months ago. We are no doubt stronger on our own soil than the Japanese, but we are the widest width of the Pacific Ocean from them, multiplied by at least half the width of the North American continent, for our strength is not on the Pacific slope.

THE PARCELS POST.

That the interests opposed to the parcels post are much alarmed is shown by the violent editorials against the systems which are appearing in the prominent papers. These editorials are doubtless inspired and paid for by the express company trust, and other organized interest that the parcels post would, doubtless, in a degree, injure. The editorials suggest that the parcels post is rank socialism and while it might work in countries of small territory like Great Britain Germany and Belgium, that one rate for long and short distances would not be suitable to a country of great territory like the United States. In other words, that one and the same rate from New York to Philadelphia and from New York to San Francisco would be economically wrong. The third objection is that it would ruin the small shop keepers in towns and villages. The word "socialism" is used with more or less effect to alarm timid people. To some it is synonymous with anarchism or suggestive of communism. A parcels post no more savors of socialism than a letter post. A number of cities supply their own water works, their own gas, electric lights and street railway systems to the great advantage of the exchequer of the cities and with a great lessening of rates to all the inhabitants. Nobody is hurt but the monopolists who would have the franchise for furnishing water, light and transportation and air if they could monopolize it and to charge their own prices therefor. As for the second charge, there is no necessity for having the same rate for transporting it to Salt Lake City or San Francisco. It would be quite easy to have what may be called a "zonal" rate or, for example, so much for each thousand miles' distance. This could still be done with the great facilities that the Government already has in its postal system at about one-tenth the rate charged by the express companies and with the result of making the postal service of the United States not only self-supporting but profitable to the whole country instead of merely profitable to the express companies as it is now bringing the country through its postal department, into debt of from five to fifteen millions of dollars a year. The third charge is that it would be ruinous to small local dealers. To this it may be answered that the small dealer in European countries has not been driven out. He still flourishes, but he has doubtless to be more economical and to figure on a smaller scale of profit. However, this would be, in any country, the concern of the small dealer who is one in a thousand and not of the nine hundred and ninety-nine who will profit by the change. The theory that the country ought not to avail itself of the most improved modern methods for getting articles cheaply in order that individuals may have the pleasure of paying great profits to local dealers, is not to be tolerated. The small local dealer will always exist. He is necessary to furnish fresh meat, vegetables and bulky articles. The parcels post will serve only to check the exorbitant prices charged by local dealers and it will force the express companies down to a reasonable point or drive them out of business. Hence it is most strenuously opposed by the express companies and their attorneys in Congress.

A prominent Senator says that he spends his time reading fiction. Can he have reference to Commissioner Garfield's Beef Trust Report?

Big Fire Near Pine Grove Mills.

On Tuesday at noon a serious fire took place a mile west of Pine Grove Mills at Reid Brothers steam saw mill. While the mill hands were at dinner the sparks from the engine set fire to the shavings in the planing room and before help came the place was a mass of flames and was finally burned to the ground. The saw mill, planer, shingle mill and a large amount of lumber was totally destroyed. There was no insurance and the loss is placed at $2,000.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Mar. 25th.

The inaugural ceremonies held on the Fourth of March have claimed another distinguished victim in Don Manuel de Aspiroz, the Mexican ambassador to this country. While on the East front of the Capitol during the inauguration the Ambassador was taken with a severe chill and today he died. The doctors in attendance from the first held out no hope of recovery and his government has been notified. Senator Bate, of Tennessee, died a few days after the Inauguration as a result of exposure on that inclement day, and the prostration of Secretary of State Hay is attributed to the same cause. A number of prominent men, among them Senator Foster, of Louisiana, experienced severe and confining attacks of grippe after Inauguration day and the number of less conspicuous victims of the exposure will never be known. The sacrifice of lives on this occasion should at least have the benefit of preventing another Inauguration as early in the season as the Fourth of March. In times of war men may die gladly for their country, but it is criminal to claim martyrs in times of peace and rejoicing. Congress should be compelled by the people at no matter what cost to its indolence to change the date to April thirtieth, the date upon which Washington took the oath of office and which could almost with certainty be counted upon to produce weather which would offer no menace to the health and lives of the great crowds who were subject to exposure that day.

Ambassador Azpiroz was the first Ambassador from Mexico to serve as such. Until 1899 the country had been represented here by a minister plenipotentiary but during that year Senator Romero, then Minister from Mexico, appealed to his government to raise the rank of the legation to that of an embassy in order that he might properly look after the interests of his country.

At one time he had by virtue of seniority been dean of the Diplomatic corps but gradually he was displaced by Ambassador who by virtue of higher rank took precedence over him. For this reason he was frequently and annoyingly made to wait for interviews at the State Department and at the White House until a whole line of men of whom he had previously held precedence had finished. Finally exasperated he called upon his government for a change and when it was finally granted he was on his death bed and Aspiroz succeeded to the title and the honors. An Ambassador is not only the representative of his country but he is also the Representative of his sovereign, and as it were a member of the royal family of his country. On account of this diplomatic fiction a number of embarrassing incidents have occurred in Washington touching the relations of the Austrian and Mexican Ambassadors.

—The Jeayon Stock Company gave another good performance at Garman's opera house Tuesday night. The play was "Beyond the Atlantic" and it seemed to please everyone. This company is an unusually strong repertoire company and is deserving of a good patronage. The illustrated songs and the moving pictures are alone worth the price of admission. Tonight the play is "Lost and Won" a society play absorbing interest.

The Ridgeway Murder Trial.

A gruesome object to be used as evidence in the trial of Miss Edna Swartz, on a charge of murder, taken to Ridgway Saturday by the district attorney, the county commissioners and two physicians. It is the head of Arnia Farley, the young man of whose death by shooting Miss Swartz is held accountable.

The authorities, by direction of the court, went to the little cemetery at Bloomington, and exhumed the remains of Farley, and the physician, after formal and indisputable identification of the body was made, severed the head.

The defense of Miss Swartz is that Farley committed suicide, but the contention of the commonwealth is that the bullet went into the back of Farley's head and came out in front, thus disproving the suicide theory. It is to substantiate this allegation that Farley's head was exhumed.

The trial of Miss Swartz promises to be a cause celebre for Elk county. She and Farley were lovers, and the shooting, which was done in Miss Swartz's home, is alleged to have occurred in the parlor, with no witnesses. Two young women friends of Miss Swartz, who were in the house that night, are held as witnesses in the case.

These two girls attempted to escape to Buffalo by taking a night train an hour after the shooting, but they were apprehended.

The Temple Quartette April 3.

The next attraction of the W. C. T. U., course is the Temple Quartette Concert Company which appears in Petrikin Hall on Monday evening April 3rd. It is one of the best attractions of the Course. The Wellington (Kan) Star has the following to say of them :

The local lecture club has given Wellington patrons several good male quartettes in times past, but the singing of the Temples excelled anything in the line ever given by the club. From the very first note the superiority of the voices was apparent. The auditorium was crowded, and the audience so appreciative that the Quartette seemed delighted to entertain, and put a soul and melody into their songs never heard in the auditorium before. Time and space forbids further enlargement on their merits, but we must refer to the closing number, "Abide with Me." undoubtedly the most glorious blending of human voices ever heard on the local platform.

In her severe and protracted illness, she never murmured. She was a great and almost constant sufferer for two years. She never complained or fretted. She was submissive with a remarkably sweet christian spirit. She was gentle and resigned. She had no fear of death. She was a beautiful christian character. She was supported and comforted in the full assurance of the child-like faith she had in the blessed master. It added strength to one's faith in the christian religion to witness how this humble child of God waited and trusted for the coming of her Lord. He came for her and now she is in her eternal and blessed rest. She was a faithful and consistent member of the Lutheran church in Bellefonte.

Did Talleyrand Visit Bellefonte.

To the Editor of the Republican :

Sir :—I write in order to bring forth a public expression of whatever knowledge or tradition exists of Prince Talleyrand's visit to Bellefonte, and the fact that our name is due to him. It is true, that some one, whose name has been lost, was heard to remark that the house overlooking our spring up the hill toward the Friends meeting house with 3 verandas in a tier, was the identical house at which Talleyrand stayed. Is there any foundation whatever for this ?

Talleyrand sailed for the United States in 1794, so the Encyclopoedia Britannica says. It is certain that he visited Fort Duquesne, and probable that he visited Bellefonte, or the spot which now bears that name.

If this structure with manifold verandas, has any connection with the Bishop of Autum (who at one time declined the Archbishorpric of Paris) then let the D. A. R., of Centre County Historical Society place a tablet on its walls, announcing that fact. That here slept for one night or more, Prince Talleyrand De Perigord, Bishop of Autum, who survived the service of Louis XV and the guillotine, was minister under Napoleon Bonaparte; signed the Louisiana Treaty; Prime minister, after Waterloo under a 3rd ruler of France. Louis XVIII, died in 1838, aged 89 years, sponsor for Bellefonte.

Bronze or marble being expensive, let it be painted on a board and attached to this house, giving employment to some painter of the town. It will add interest for those who visit the spring on Sunday afternoons and stimulate the study of history.

Very truly yours,
A Citizen.

It is hoped that some of those who know will reply to this.

—In our last week's issue our Fowler correspondent No. 2, was mistaken in stating that Mrs. Foster Beckwith had the fever. This was not correct as she is suffering from liver complaint. Many of her friends were afraid to go to the house after reading the item in the paper.

AFTER 34 YEARS.

The wise buyer is "posted" in what he buys and where to buy. 34 years of unquestioned ascendence. 34 years of steady improvement in quality and workmanship. 34 years of constant increase in sales and still growing. This is the record of Schofield's harness factory. (Are there any who will deny the above?) Three first class workmen kept busy all winter, making heavy and light harness. Our stock is complete in farm, tug, buggy, spring wagon and light double driving harness. Our chain harness this year are cheaper and better than ever. We have a large assortment of fine tug bridles, made in different styles.

We Invite You To Call

and examine our goods and get prices. Don't pay the price for old harness when you can buy new for the same money. Don't ask us to compete with inferior made goods, as we use only the best material and employ first class workmen.

We have over six hundred dollars worth of collars, ranging in price from two to four dollars. Don't fail to see these goods before buying. Yours truly, for your trade.

LITTLE MILL WORKERS

TRUE TALES TOLD BY CHILD SLAVES UNDER OATH TO THE ANTHRACITE STRIKE COMMISSION.

These Little Girls Stood All Night In the Midst of Dangerous, Whirling Machinery For a Mere Pittance, and All This Under a Law That Experience Has Proved Inefficient.

Conditions surrounding child labor in Pennsylvania have been such that the State has become a gathering place for factories that rely upon cheap labor, no matter how obtained, for great profits.

Particularly true is this of the silk and woolen factories that have drained the schools of the anthracite and bituminous coal regions of thousands of children. For these little ones, the bill which has been framed and modified under the supervision of the Pennsylvania Child Labor Committee will be a means of rescue and a permanent safeguard against future imposition.

The character of work that has been required from these children of the mining regions is best told in the official notes of testimony given before the Anthracite Strike Commission in Scranton, Dec. 15, 1902. Following are excerpts from that evidence:

Theresa McDermott called to the stand:

How old are you? Eleven past.

Are you working anywhere? Yes, sir, in the silk mill.

Here in Scranton? No, sir, up in Dunmore.

How long have you worked there? About four months.

Days or nights? Days.

What time do you go to work? We start at seven o'clock in the morning.

What time do you stop at night? Six o'clock.

What do you do there? I learned reeling.

Stand up or sit down? Stand up.

What do you get a week? About $2.

Have you been to school? Yes, sir.

How far did you get in the readers? Third reader.

Annie Denko called:

How old are you? Thirteen.

Where do you work? In the silk mill.

Do you work days or nights? Nights.

What time do you go to work? I start to work at half-past six.

How long do you work? Twelve hours.

You are about thirteen hours altogether going and coming to the mill and working? Yes, sir.

You go home at half-past six in the morning? Yes, sir.

Winter and summer? Winter and summer.

How long have you worked there? I am working here over a year.

Do you stand up or sit down? Stand up all night.

What do you do? I twist.

Do you stop in the middle of the night to eat? We have half an hour.

How much do you get? I get five cents and a half an hour.

For twelve hours or ten? We work twelve hours.

The Chairman (Judge Gray)—What is the law in this state about working in textile factories, do you know, Mr. Torrey? Mr. Torrey—No, I do not.

The Chairman—Any law about working at night?

Mr. McCarthy—No, no law about working at night.

By the Chairman:

Would you rather go to school? We can't; I have to go to work.

Would you rather work in the mill than to live out at service? I would rather live out at service than go to the mill.

Commissioner Parker—Would you rather go to school than go to the mill? Yes, sir.

The Chairman—I think the father ought to be seen, Mr. Torrey, and the employers, too. There is no use in disguising the fact that it may be a necessity, but there must be many cases in which the fathers allow this and give their own consent to coin the flesh and blood of their children into money to help their income when there is no absolute necessity for it. It is an outrage.

Helen Sissak called:

How old are you? Eleven years, past.

Where do you work? I work in Dunmore in the Cambria Silk Mills.

How long have you worked there? One year.

Do you work days or nights? Nights.

How many hours? What time do you go there and what time do you get back? I go at half-past six and leave the mill at half-past six in the morning.

How far do you live from the mill? About a mile from the mill; takes half an hour to get to the mill.

What do you do in the mill? Carry bobbins.

Carry them from one place to another? No; one bobbin gets empty and I take the empty bobbin off the frame and clean the bobbin and put it on a board.

Do you stand up all night or sit down? I have to walk around to get the bobbins and sit down and clean them.

How long have you worked nights? One year.

Always worked nights? Yes.

Have you a certificate of your age required by law, or don't they require certificates? Yes, they won't permit us in the mills unless you have a certificate.

What does the certificate show? That I was 13.

How do they get thirteen on the certificate when you are not twelve? Father swore I was thirteen, of course.

Mr. Darrow—Mr. Burns, would you just as soon tell the commission how many silk mills there are and how many other mills employ girls?

Mr. Burns—They are scattered all around.

Mr. D.—All these mills employ such girls.

Mr. B.—Certainly.

Mr. D.—Nothing but girls?

Mr. B.—No.

Mr. D.—Are there any mills besides silk mills?

Mr. B.—Yes, button factories and various other things.

The Chairman—Is there any law in this state, gentlemen, about night labor for children?

No answer.

LIVING AT A HOTEL.

Sensible Advice to Women Who Have to Travel Alone.

When you go to a hotel you will be met at the door by a porter, and you can either go to the office with him or ask him to engage a room for you from the clerk. But it is altogether customary for a woman to go to the office to engage her room, and you need not feel that you are doing anything conspicuous. State what sort of room you wish and learn the price. The clerk will give you the key of your room. When you are there, do as you please. If you want the chambermaid, ring for her and tell her what you need. After that behave as you would in any private house where you felt at home. Leave the key at the office when you are going out. Bear in mind that for the time being the hotel is your home and that you have a right to order anything in it that you are prepared to pay for. Don't be afraid of any one.

Keep the same thing in mind when you order meals. Take your time over the menu card. Select what you want as you would if the waiter were not there. If you look grave and dignied the attendants will think you are a haughty, reserved person who knows it all and will defer to you. Keep up this impression. Tip the waiter a quarter for any order of from $1 to $2 and beyond that on a scale of 10 per cent. The bell boy who takes up your bag will expect a dime tip. The chambermaid will look for a quarter if she has done anything especial for you. If not, don't tip her.

Don't be afraid of anything or any one. In all probability they are all as much in awe of you as you are of them.—Philadelphia North American.

CREEPING BAGS.

The Best Way to Make These Useful Baby Garments.

Absurd as a baby appears in one, there is no more useful garment than the practical creeping bag if correctly made. A closed end to the bag to cover the baby's legs and feet is a great mistake, as it seriously hampers the child's motions, but the bag made with length enough to turn up under the skirts and button or tie around the waist, entirely protecting the petticoats and yet leaving the baby's feet free for exercise, is a great success. The child uses his feet to propel himself or push himself over the floor, and of course his moccasins and stockings will be soiled in the process, but one can save the more perishable lace and lawn by using a creeping bag as a covering for his dress.

Gingham is the best material to choose, and two or three should be made, so that one may always be clean. One and a half yards of blue or pink gingham will transform the famly cherub into a little workingman. The lower edge of the apron or bag is to be gathered into the band, which is provided with a button and buttonhole and buttoned around the baby's waist after being turned up under his petticoats.— New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Homemade Antique.

A woman whose desire for beautiful things quite outstrips her pocketbook created from an old square piano case a magnificent library table. The works of the instrument had become absolutely worthless, so they were taken out. When the piano was closed it was a tight box of rosewood. The front piece was taken off, and a pine drawer was fitted in with the front piece for the front of the drawer. Two old fashioned glass knobs were screwed into the drawer for handles. The legs were beautifully carved, but were of course too long, so they were sawed off to make the top come to a convenient height for a table. The whole thing was polished highly, and the result was a table that could not be bought for $100.—Brown Book.

Bits of Lace.

A bit of real lace will often contribute greatly to the style of a frock, and it is an excellent plan to rip from the garments before they are thrown aside any lace trimmings. No matter how badly soiled, every scrap of lace is worth saving. And this applies to the imitations as well as to the real, for if there is only sufficient to trim a stock collar it may be used for that purpose very conveniently and effectively on some future occasion, and as lace does not occupy a great deal of space and is not so popular with most as are many other materials it may easily be preserved.

ILLITERATE CHILDREN

HOW THE BURDEN OF LABOR ROBS LITTLE ONES OF OPPORTUNITIES.

In Philadelphia Alone 16,000 Children Between the Ages of Eight and Thirteen Are Denied the Benefits of Normal Childhood and the Advantages of Education.

Here are some facts and figures taken from an investigation into and a report by agents of the Pennsylvania Child Labor Committee upon the reasons underlying the amazing amount of illiteracy that exists in Pennsylvania in spite of compulsory school laws:

In Philadelphia alone there are, after deducting those physically unable to attend school, 16,100 children between the ages of eight and thirteen, out of school, and a similar situation exists throughout the state. Why is it that children of from eight to thirteen years are found at work in foundries, machine shops, shipyards, locomotive and car works, in laundries and bake shops and stores, in factories making glass, shovels, spring beds, carpets, blankets, tin cans, slates, blackboards, glue, cigars, ice cream freezers, barrels, picture frames, paper boxes, wooden boxes, hardware, furniture, collars, ropes and twines, sugar, candy, cotton and cotton goods, lace curtains, cloth and woolen goods, worsteds and yarns, watch cases, linen, dress trimmings, nails, matches, artificial flowers, hosiery and underwear, hats, silks and velvets, tassels, paper, leather, paint, bone, shoes, brushes, pumps, satchels, overalls, harness, horse nets, ice, oil, umbrellas, wrappers, optical supplies, quilts, blank books, skewers, shirts, upholstery, feather dusters, hooks and eyes, corks, coaches, saws, wire, buttons, toys, sporting goods, trunks, straps, rubber, hair crimpers, brooms, fringe, oil cloth, soap, cement, white metal, sheet metal, nickel and silver plating and electrical apparatus.

The recent investigation of working children in all parts of the state shows the age at which 631 children left school, and that two-thirds of these were under the legal age.

2 were 7 years old.
4 were 8 years old.
12 were 9 years old.
43 were 10 years old.
132 were 11 years old.
237 were 12 years old.
157 were 13 years old.
36 were 14 years old.
8 were 15 years old.

Fifteen never went to school at all in this country, and it is not known whether they have ever been to school.

How do these children escape the factory law and the factory inspectors, the school law and the truant officers? The loop hole is so simple that the law of the state appears curiously naive. The law declares that no child under sixteen may be employed unless it presents to its employer a certificate sworn to by its parent that it is thirteen years of age or over; that anyone with power to administer oaths may issue certificates and receive twenty-five cents for so doing. In other words, a child's going to work depends upon two people who are paid for helping the child to employment: First, the parent who will benefit by the child's wage, and, second, the notary who will receive his fee if he issues the certificate, or no fee if he does not.

It has been said that the Child Labor question is altogether a sentimental issue. While sentiment has its influence, the sentiment of overwhelming pity, there is also a materialistic view; that of the value in body and mind, in mature, skilled work and intelligence, in property and money that the state of Pennsylvania is losing through the heartless laws tha now affect child labor. Every costly jail and reformatory, every insane asylum, every slum and dive is an argument that cries out against neglect of rights of children.

Women is often referred to by man as "doubling his joys and halving his sorrows." That may be complimentary but it would seem to be rather hard on the woman. For in plain terms it means that where things are going well with the man his wife makes them go better. But when things ar going ill with him, he expects the wife to share half his burden. And there's more truth than poetry in this presentation of masculine selfishness. Men don't appreciate the fact that the strain of motherhood alone is a burden bigger than all the loads that rest upon male shoulders. They see the wife grow thin, pale, nervous and worn without a thought that she is over-burdened. Among the pleasant letters received by Dr. Pierce are those from husbands who have waked up before it was too late to the crushing burdens laid upon the wife, and in the search for help have found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a restorative which has given back to the mother the health of the maiden and the maiden's happiness. "Favorite Prescription" always helps, and almost always cures. It has perfectly cured ninety-eight out of every hundred women who have used it when afflicted with diseases peculiar to women.

HELD IN BIG BAIL

Stanley Francis is Under Arrest.

IN $100,000 BAIL

He is Charged With Having Used United States Mails for Fraudulent Purposes.

WAS COMMITTED TO PRISON.

Philadelphia, March 25. — Stanley Francis, alias Arthur S. Foster, a promoter of many companies, was arrested by United States postal inspectors Friday on the charge of using the mails for fradulent purposes and after a hearing before United States Commissioner Craig, he was held in $100,000 bail for a further hearing. Francis was unable to furnish the bail and in default was committed to the county prison.

The postal authorities charge that Francis is one of the leading figures in the Storey Cotton company and the Provident Investment company, which are alleged by the postal inspectors to be fraudulent "get-rich-quick" concerns. Both companies have gone into the hands of receivers and more of the men who were actively identified with the management of the concerns have disappeared. Both companies did an extensive mail business in all parts of the United States, in Canada and in Europe. Hundreds of creditors have visited the offices of the companies in this city but could get neither the money they invested or any promise of returns.

Francis was arrested in the offices of Francis Brothers, publishers, with which firm he is connected. The arrest was quietly made and the hearing was brief. Only enough evidence was produced before the commissioner to make out a prima facia case. The exposure of the fraud in the Storey Cotton company was made by a Philadelphia newspaper, which connects Francis with numerous other companies.

Among the concerns Francis promoted was the United States Trust company of this city. A meeting of the directors of this company was held Friday, at which all the officers resigned. This was followed by the entering of a judgment against Francis for $70,000 by the officers of the trust company.

The postal company have also caused a warrant to be issued for the arrest of W. H. Latimer, the missing manager of the defunct Provident Investment company. He is also charged with using the mails for fraudulent purposes.

No More Suffering.

If you are troubled with indigestion get a bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and see how quickly it will cure you. Geo. A. Thompson of Spencer, Ia., says: Have had Dyspepsia for twenty years. My case was almost hopeless. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure was recommended and I used a few bottles of it and it is the only thing that has relieved me. Would not be without it. Have doctored with local physicians and also at Chicago, and even went to Norway with the hopes of getting some relief, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only remedy that has done me any good, and I can heartily recommend it. Every person suffering with indigestion or Dyspepsia should use it. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

Patent and Proprietary Medicines.

A Reply to Mr. Bok.

I am not a maker of patent medicines, nor have I any interest in the sale of them. I am simply a user, like the rest of you.

Patent medicines are friends of my youth, and friends of my family. They have helped me when I needed help; and if they need help now I feel like defending them. It is only fair reciprocity.

The fact is that the term "patent medicines," as applied to advertised remedies, is a misnamer. Very few of the remedies advertised to the laity are patented. The real patent medicines are advertised to physicians alone. They are brought into use almost solely through physicians prescriptions,

Practically all the synthetic chemicals produced in late years are protected by patents. The most valuable products used by modern physicians are patented. The coal tar preparations which are most widely used, and the most effective germicides, are among them. All physicians, are among them. All physicians prescribe these remedies, yet they know that their owners control a monopoly.

The largest pharmaceutical houses are not those which make remedies advertised in the newspapers. They make the remedies which are advertised to physicians alone, and they control those remedies absolutely by a patent or trademark. If the medical profession ceased to use these patented remedies, half the prescriptions which are written would need to be altered.

This does not bear out Mr. Bok's theory that the discoverer of a remedy of real value gives it freely to the world. The custom with those who invent such remedies today is to patent them and control them, just as does the man who invents a new machine. And the medical profession recognize and approve the method, for every modern physician prescribes patented remedies more frequently than any others. And enormous enterprises are built solely on this fact.

The mere fact, therefore, that a man controls a remedy, either by a patent or trademark, does not argue against it. It is rather evidence that the man has something which he considers worth controlling.

If the man, in addition, spends large sums in advertising, whether to physicians or to the laity, it forms to me further evidence of value. Nothing is more certain than the fact that a worthless article cannot be advertised profitably.

Those who know advertising know that the cost of selling a bottle or package to a new user is several times the profit made on it. The only hope of profit comes through continued use; and, without merit, continued use cannot be expected. When a man has made a success in advertising a medicine, it is to me the best evidence possible that he has something good,

A physician may put up a prescription for some individual case without giving much thought to it. But if that physician is going to spend a fortune on advertising, with no possibility of getting his money back unless he satisfies millions of users, he is naturally going to put up the best prescription he can make. If he is wise he will get the best prescriptions for his purpose that any man can make.

Then there is the question of alcohol which Mr. Bok seems to consider such a perilous one. All the fluid extracts and tinctures used in medicine must employ alcohol as a solvent and preservative. Prohibit a physician from using alcohol in his prescriptions and you would make the practice of medicine impossible. If a physician must use alcohol in certain prescriptions, shall we complain that a ready made medicine employs it for the same purpose?

If we are going to avoid the use of alcohol we must banish the extracts and essences used in our kitchen. Fluid extracts, whether they are medicinal or culinary, cannot be made or preserved without alcohol.

The use of alcohol in medicine is approved by the pharmacopoeias of all nations. It is in accord with the practice of all medical authorities in the world.

The abuse of alcohol is another matter, but the cost alone is enough to prevent abuse. Alcohol costs about $2.60 per gallon. It is too expensive for any medicine maker to use more than he needs of it. And he cannot hope that people are going to take the medicine because of the alcohol, when good whisky can be purchased for one-fifth as much.

A dose of medicine which contains even 20 per cent of alcohol does not seem to me a very dangerous matter. That means one-fifth of a teaspoonful of alcohol at a time. Physicians do not hesitate to give brandy to a child in teaspoonful doses, and brandy is half alcohol. When one compares medicine with wine or beer, he should also compare the dosage. One takes more alcohol in a glass of wine than he takes in a great many doses of medicine.

Mr. Bok is also most unfair in his reference to poisons used in proprietary medicines. It is true that some medicines contain poisons in small percentages, but the use is not nearly as general as in physicians' prescriptions. A great many drugs which are recognized by every physician as helpful in small doses are poisonous when taken in excess.

An elderly druggist told me a few days ago that he had personally examined more than 100,000 physicians' prescriptions, and by actual count, 70 per cent. of them contained an opiate. Yet analysis shows not a trace of opiate in the largest sellers among the proprietary remedies.

Strychnine is another dangerous drug largely prescribed by physicians. It is used as a tonic and stimulant. Yet this is a drug rarely found in proprietaries.

The maker of a proprietary medicine must be more careful about the use of any poison than the physician. The physician is in a position to direct his doses and to watch the results. He is able to take chances which no maker of a general remedy will take, for fear that the directions on the bottle will not be adhered to.

There are thousands of physicians whose interests are opposed to proprietary remedies. They are ready to denounce a ready made remedy at the slightest evidence of harm from it. Yet how seldom we hear of any harm from proprietaries. I have myself never heard of a single authenticated case.

It is the lack of poison, rather than its presence, which forms the real objection to proprietaries. It is by using a poison which the medicine maker avoids that the physician often secures a greater effect. The maker of a remedy has too much at stake to use anything which will result in occasional harm. And this caution leads him often to omit ingredients which he knows to be valuable.

Proprietary remedies are used not alone by the poor who cannot afford to call a physician. They are employed by those to whom expense is of no importance. And in ordinary ailments, when a physician is called, he prescribes a ready made remedy. Proprietary remedies are at some time taken by all of us, They are found in nearly every home.

And I know of no business where fraud has less chance of success than in medicine. A worthless remedy is very quickly found out. A sick person will not long continue a remedy which does not help. The lack of merit in a food may remain long undiscovered, but if a medicine lacks virtue the fact is at once apparent.

When I need a remedy for any ordinary ailment, my choice goes to a remedy so good that it made its maker rich.
